DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of using claim language: “comprises” (line 1) should be changed to “has”.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

Claim 12 is objected to because of the following informalities:

- the phrase “Anadjusting apparatus...” (line 1) should be changed to the phrase “An adjusting apparatus...”
- the phrase “...and two adjusting, one end...” (second paragraph, line 2) should be changed to the phrase “...and two adjusting devices, one end...”
- the phrase “adjacent surfaces of said fixing plates” (second paragraph, Line 3) should be changed to the phrase “adjacent surfaces of said fixing plate”, because the device includes only one fixing plate [421].

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 6, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tanaka et al. (US 6,837,569) in view of Hashizume et al. (US 6,000,802).

Referring to Claim 1 Tanaka et al. disclose (Fig.8) a lighting device including a base [41] having a container (under spacer [47]) with a guide-groove [51], an adjusting module including adjusting plates [43] and [44], guide-grooves [55] and guide pins [52] and a cover [42].

Tanaka et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for two adjusting devices on side surfaces of the base.

Hashizume et al. disclose (Fig.6A) a projection display having two adjusting devices [736] and 746] located on side surfaces. This arrangement allows to adjust the lens in vertical and in a horizontal direction.

Referring to Claims 3, 8 Tanaka et al. disclose (Fig.8) that the cover [42] has a window smaller than the dimension of the adjusting plate.

Referring to Claim 6 Tanaka et al. disclose (Fig.8) a lighting device including a base [41] having a container (under spacer [47]) with a guide-groove [51], an adjusting module including adjusting plates [43] and [44], guide-grooves [55] and guide pins [52] and a cover [42].

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to provide the adjusting devices, as taught by Hashizume et al., for the device of Tanaka et al. in order to improve adjustability.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 4, 5, 7, 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Referring to Claims 2, 7 the prior art of record fails to show an adjusting apparatus wherein adjusting devices are moved parallel to the length direction of the guide-grooves.

Referring to Claim 4 the prior art of record fails to show an adjusting apparatus wherein the guide-grooves have repositioning device inside, two ends of which respectively pressing to the guide pin and to a surface of the guide-groove.

Claim 5 is objected as claim depended on claim 4.

Referring to Claim 9 the prior art of record fails to show an adjusting apparatus wherein one end of the adjusting device has at least one repositioning device in accordance with the position of the adjusting device, one end of the repositioning device is fixed to the side surface of the base, and the other end pressing to the side surface of the adjusting plate.

Claims 10 and 11 are objected as claims depended on claim 9.

Claims 12-19 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Referring to Claim 12 the prior art of record fails to show an adjusting apparatus including a fixing plate having slide-grooves and two adjusting plates adjacent surfaces of the fixing plate, the adjusting plate placing guide-pins in accordance with the guide-grooves.

Claims 13-19 are allowed as claims depended on claim 12.

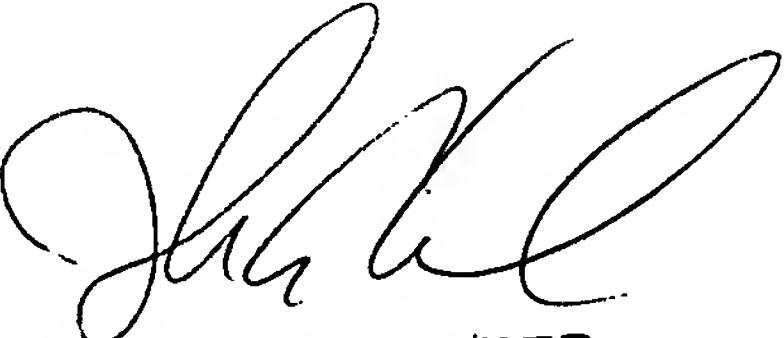

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
